Go Red for Women Venture Fund™

Investing in innovation to improve women's health at every age, stage and season of life

The Go Red for Women Venture Fund invests in market-driven solutions for heart, brain and related conditions that affect women differently, disproportionately or exclusively. We focus where health gaps create urgent need — and explosive market potential — going beyond traditional FemTech or reproductive health.

Sparking Real-World Change

The Go Red for Women Venture Fund supports companies working to improve access, diagnosis and treatment for women, and that have a large, accessible total addressable market. We take a broad view, including conditions that adversely impact heart and brain health, such as mental health, endometriosis and autoimmune disorders.

The Go Red Venture Fund leads, co-leads or participates in Series A and Series B funding rounds for companies that demonstrate strong early traction, clinical validation and a compelling value proposition.
